

Preparing the Soil

Daily - for week beginning on June 8th

Just like any relationship, regular communication with God is needed. Therefore, I challenge you to create a daily routine to prepare your hearts for God's word.

Preparing the Soil is something that can be done in less than 20 minutes per day. It just requires a time and place of quiet (before the day begins or after the day has ended or even on the train coming home from work). The readings are designed to coordinate with the sermon theme of the following week. I invite you to follow each step Monday through Saturday.

I. Invocation (Pray this each day):

Lord of all the worlds, guide this nation by your Spirit to go forward in justice and freedom. Give to all your people the blessings of well-being and harmony, but above all things, give us faith in you, that our nation may bring glory to your name and blessings to all people, through Jesus Christ, our Savior and Lord. Amen

II. Psalm 20 (Read this each day):

VI: Benediction (Spoken each day):

You have been in communion with your Lord. Go forth now in the strength and assurance that the Lord Jesus Christ goes with you. Amen.

The general idea and often the words of the benediction are taken from: A Guide to Prayer by Rueben Job and Norman Shawchuck, (The Upper Room: Nashville, 1983).

A Deeper Dive – Lectio Divina

Once a week

Lectio divina is a Latin phrase meaning “divine reading”. It is an ancient way of taking a deep dive into a particular passage of the Bible. 2 Timothy 3:16 tells us, “All scripture is inspired by God and is useful for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness so that everyone who belongs to God may be proficient, equipped for every good work.” If the words of the Bible are inspired by God, then God must be trying to communicate with us through it. Lectio divina is a way to engage with the Bible not just with our brain but our heart and spirit as well. It is a way to “pray” the words of scripture.

The method is not difficult, but it will require that you set aside some quiet time in your week (usually 20 to 30 minutes). In addition to the “Preparing the Soil” work that you are doing each day, I invite you to set aside enough time to practice this lectio divina method once or twice this week. All you need is your Bible and a quiet space. If you are a person who journals, have your journal ready as well. See our website for a “How to” video on lectio divina. Here are the steps:

1. If you can, sit in a comfortable, upright position, relaxing your body as you feel the ground beneath you. Begin to take some deep, slow breaths to quiet your mind. The first goal is to come to stillness.
2. Pray for the Spirit of Jesus to come and meet you.
3. Read Romans 13:8-10* slowly (in Latin, this is called lectio). Pay close attention to what stands out to you (a word, phrase, or image) and what you sense the Holy Spirit is highlighting in your mind and heart.
4. Meditate on this Bible passage (this is called meditatio). “Chew” on it. Re-read the passage a few more times and reflect on those words and ideas. Some find it helpful to read it from different Bible translations.
5. Pray on this Bible passage (this is called oratio). Turn what you are hearing into a prayer back to God.
6. Contemplate this Bible passage (this is called contemplatio). Spend a few minutes sitting in God's presence to reflect on and enjoy God's love and attention. Reflect on what God might be telling you to do in this Bible reading.

*If you choose to practice lectio divina a second time this week, I suggest using Jeremiah 29:11-14.

Above method of Lectio Divina is taken from Practicing the Way Workbook by John Mark Comer, et al. (WaterBrook Press: Colorado Springs, 2025)
